Dear Sir
This is a reply to

I contacted the field office in St George and agreed to clean up the remains of my noticed pilot mill operation.

As of this date there is one water tank on a trailer, one generator on a trailer, one metal box and one sheet of light weight metal some rock and dirt are covering.

It is my intent to remove all the materials by the end of this season.

There was never any toxic materials used on site.

I intend to reclaim this claim and have some questions as to the access road and the procedures to keep this access road open. I do not want to post a bond. The same question would apply to the tunnel opening there is a metal gate and I do not see the need to blow the entrance closed.

Thank You
Stephen DeLong
